A sizable movement in favor of Gov. Morton of New York for Republican candidate for president next year is discernible. His friends predict that he will have the solid support of the State in the national convention.

The distribution of garden seeds by congressmen at government expense has been suspended by Secretary Morton. The next congress will likely like to be equal to the task of contriving a lump sum of the same magnitude to take its place.

Hardware, a trade paper, estimates this year's production of the bicycle factories of our country at 400,000 machines, and still the supply has been far behind the demand all the season. Next year, it predicts, 700,000 machines will be made and sold.

Mr. B. G. Howe of St. Johnsbury, the owner of two hotels, has been convicted of selling rum and sent to the work house at Rutland. His friends wanted him pardoned, but Gov. Woodbury apparently thinks that a man as bright and capable as Mr. Howe is should know better, and refuses to act.

The newspapers are full these days of new discoveries concerning the crimes of H. H. Holmes, who got into trouble by trying to defraud an insurance company. Ten or a dozen murders, committed chiefly in Chicago, are already charged to him, and the end is not yet. He is in prison in Philadelphia.

The Fish and Game league had a large gathering at Hon. N. W. Fisk's on Isle La Motte yesterday. It is suggested that the object of the meeting was to help on a boom for Mr. Fisk for lieutenant governor; but no judicious friend would put him into the field in opposition to Rutland's youthful though ambitious statesman.

The wool market is thus spoken of by Dun's Review of Saturday:

Enormous sales of wool, 44,778,864 lbs. in four weeks against 29,220,750 in 1892, far exceed actual consumption, but reflect belief that prices will not decline, and the few changes this week have been upward. Scarcity of domestic wool in eastern markets is in part due to heavy speculative withdrawals.

The Vermont, a monthly published at St. Albans by its editor and proprietor, Mr. Charles S. Forbes, is the latest addition to the list of State publications. The August number, the first, is illustrated by an excellent full-page portrait of Gov. Woodbury, portraits of the Masonic grand officers and numerous other pictures, including a portrait of that eminent warrior, Col. H. E. Parker of Bradford, who appears in full regiments, as he ought. Senator Morrill, Gov. Woodbury, Congressman Powers and other prominent people contribute articles. The paper is handsomely printed.

The census returns showing the condition of Vermont churches in 1890 are published. The State then had 904 congregations, 234 of which were Methodist, 198 Congregationalist, 143 Baptist, 98 Catholic, 63 Episcopal, 65 Universalist, 58 Adventist, 18 Presbyterian, 10 Spiritualist, 9 Unitarian, 6 Welsh Calvinist, 5 Christian, 4 Friends, 2 Plymouth Brethren, 2 Christian Scientist and 1 Jewish. The church members numbered 106,315 out of a total population of 332,442. Of these communicants 42,810 were Roman Catholics, 20,465 Congregationalists, 17,527 Methodists, 11,258 Baptists, 4335 Episcopalians, 2409 Universalists, 1267 Presbyterians and 998 Unitarians. The church members formed about 32 per cent of the State's population. In the country at large the percentage was nearly 39.

The cavalrymen at Fort Ethan Allen, near Burlington, afford no end of police court items for the local papers. The Independent of Saturday has this item: "Yesterday two cavalrymen from Fort Ethan Allen rode up in front of a drug store in this city and asked the clerk to bring them a bottle of whiskey. A few moments later a neatly wrapped package was exchanged for a sum of money and the horsemen rode away, evidently well pleased with the law which does not prohibit." The performances of these guardians of the nation's honor recall Mr. Pickwick's notes on Rochester, recording his observations on that famous tour of the club. He remarks: "The streets present a lively and animated appearance, occasioned chiefly by the conviviality of the military. It is truly delightful to a philanthropic mind to see all these gallant men staggering along under the influence of animal and ardent spirits; more especially when we remember that the following them about and jesting with them affords a cheap and innocent amusement for the boy population." The boys of Burlington are to be congratulated on possessing this source of amusement; and doubtless the philanthropic soul of Senator Proctor, through whose efforts the post was established, is filled with joy at having been the means of procuring it.

Senator W. E. Chandler of New Hampshire, who is credited with a desire to obtain the Republican nomination for vice-president, always talks so as to be understood. He has noticed about the silver question, and concerning Cleveland and Carlisle, which he states as follows in an interview:

Dealing as politicians with the money question we must start as bimetallicists and opposed to the single standard of gold. If the platform is changed, it can only be done by a national convention of the Republican party. A Republican has exactly the same right to support free trade that he has to advocate the single gold standard.

Neither can a Republican fulfill the party pledges in favor of bimetallicism by talking about the use of silver or token coinage. That is mere mockery of the platform. So is talk about the "enlarged use" of silver in any way except we mean its use as the equal of gold at the ratio of the consensus, 15 to 1, and its free coinage at that ratio. That is what we Republicans have promised the American people we will secure if we can do it, and not gold dollars. We cannot do that now; we can do it, sometime. We never can do it if we make ourselves traitors to our platform and become slaves to the English gold monometallists.

Grover Cleveland and Secretary Carlisle have done that. I believe they were paid for doing it, in advance, before and during the canvass of 1892, by money contributions to secure Cleveland's nomination and election. Where else did the money come from? Nine millions have been already repaid by selling to the gold monometallists 60 millions of bonds at 15 per cent below their real value; and more is to be repaid in the same way before a Republican congress can stop the nefarious work.

PERSONAL.

Myron F. Parker of Washington has been appointed special aide-de-camp on the staff of Gov. Woodbury. He was born in Fairfax November 7, 1833.

Hon. Chester B. McLaughlin of Port Henry has been nominated by the Republicans of the fourth judicial district of New York for justice of the supreme court. He is a brother-in-law of Dr. Chas. B. Warner of the same town, who has numerous relatives in this country.

THE NEW CATHOLIC CHURCH.

THE CORNER-STONE LAID IN THE PRESENCE OF MANY PEOPLE.

Last Sunday was a great day for the Catholics of Middlebury and the surrounding towns, it being the occasion of the laying of the corner-stone of their new church. Bishop Michaud, coadjutor of Bishop DeGoesbriand, accompanied by Vicar General Lynch, came down from Burlington Saturday afternoon and read the low mass Sunday morning, preaching a strong sermon at the high mass later. The formal ceremony of laying the corner-stone of the new church took place shortly after 4 o'clock in the afternoon. The church is to stand at the head of Academy street just east of the parsonage. Here a large concourse of people had gathered to witness the ceremony of blessing and laying the corner-stone. There were people here from Ripton, New Haven, Leicester, Salisbury, Shoreham, Bridport, Weybridge, Cornwall, Vergennes and other towns, people of all religious denominations and people of no denomination. In all there must have been 1000 or 1200 of them present during the addresses. The weather was perfect, just warm and just cool enough so that every one was comfortable.

The corner-stone was first blessed by Rev. Bishop Michaud, assisted by the vicar general and a number of the other priests of the diocese, Bishop Michaud using a small silver trowel bearing this inscription: "St. Mary's church, Middlebury, Vt., 1895." It is intended to present this trowel to the largest contributor to the new church. The stone was then quickly and easily lowered into place by workmen employed upon the church, under the direction of the builder, Mr. Dubuc. It is a beautiful piece of blue marble, three feet and eight inches wide and two feet deep. The stone is the gift of Mr. James A. Smith of the Smith & Brainerd Marble company, and the cutting, polishing and lettering were all done gratuitously by employees of that company. It is set in the southeast corner of the church. On the face to the south are these words: "Beato Marle Assumptio," and on the face to the east it reads thus: "1895. Leo XIII. Pope. L. DeGoesbriand, Bishop. J. S. Michaud, Coadjutor. Thos. Lynch, V. G. J. M. Gelot, Rector. N. Dubuc, Builder. G. W. Guernsey, Archt." The stone has a deep socket in which will be placed various United States coins of this year's mintage, with papers and documents relating to the church and diocese. A large United States flag waved over the stone during the ceremony, and smaller flags were to be seen on every hand. No other national colors were displayed.

At the conclusion of the laying of the stone the crowd gathered around a stand which had been erected in the college park nearly opposite, from which the addresses were made, and from each corner of which floated a small flag. The stand was occupied by the bishop and clergymen. Rev. F. J. Barrett of Fairhaven preached the formal sermon, taking for his foundation point the storm on the sea of Galilee, and showing how, although there had been various schisms and many attempts to overthrow the church, they had never succeeded and never can succeed, for Christ has promised that the gates of hell shall never prevail against her. Father Barrett's address was mainly historical and was not calculated to offend the religious feelings of any one present. It was an eloquent and scholarly production, and took about 45 minutes for its delivery. Bishop Michaud followed with an admirable address of 15 minutes' duration. Incidentally, he told how he had had the blessed privilege of saying mass over the tomb of St. Peter in St. Peter's church in Rome, and he exhorted every one to assist in building this new church, asserting that the Catholic church had always been a strong friend of this government and that the church taught her children that next to their duty to their God was their duty to their government. The bishop's address brought the exercises to a close.

A considerable amount of money was contributed on the grounds during the ceremonies and a large collection was taken at the church during high mass in the morning.

The present church of St. Mary's on Weybridge street in Middlebury is the oldest Catholic church in the diocese of Burlington, having been built in 1837, years before there was any Catholic bishop in Vermont. It is a brick structure and has several times been remodeled or repaired, the chapel having been added about 25 years ago. The church will be of rock-face marble, with white marble trimmings. Its dimensions will be 127 x 57 feet, with a 57 x 30 foot chapel on the south end, and the style of architecture is Roman. The basement above the foundation will be 20 feet high and from the water tables to the eaves it will be 24 feet. The tower will be 19 feet square and in height will stand 33 feet above grade and will be surmounted by a spire 75 feet high. The chapel will be only one story high. The church will have a steel truss roof, and the auditorium will be an open one, with columns, and a horse-shoe shaped gallery. The pews and wainscoting will be of ash and the doors of veneered oak. It is expected that the building will be got up as far as the eaves this season, and it is hoped that it may be completed by the end of next year.

George W. Guernsey of Montpelier is the architect and Napoleon Dubuc of the same city is the builder. It is estimated that when completed the church will cost something like $30,000.

A CARD OF THANKS.

We desire to express our grateful appreciation of the services rendered by the friends, neighbors and relatives of our lamented father and brother, Luyette J. Samson, in connection with the burial of his remains. Especial acknowledgment is hereby rendered to all who contributed flowers; to Prof. Porter and the singers with him; to S. H. Bar, for his eloquent words of sympathy and comfort; to the pall bearers, and to Mr. Charles H. Lane, to whom the conduct of the arrangements for the funeral were so wisely entrusted.

A MAN CAN LIVE WITHOUT AIR

Almost as easily as a wire fence can without ELASTICITY. If the man was confined in an air tight room, he would linger along for awhile, just as a fence does, supported by the trifling amount of elasticity in soft wire. The stimulant applied with a wrench to the end catches enables it to give a few more gasps before the final collapse. Our COILED STEEL WIRE is armed so strong with ELASTICITY, the life is one continual SPRING, and to its owner "the cushion" as pleasant as May." It is made by the Page Woven Wire Fence Co., Adrian, Mich. Wm. H. Matthews, Agent for Addison county (except Addison and Panton), Middlebury, Vt., will send circulars on application and answer all inquiries.

CARD OF THANKS.

We wish to express our thanks to the quartet, to those who furnished flowers and to the kind friends and neighbors for their assistance and manifestations of sympathy in our recent bereavement.

Is The Right Idea

These days of torpid heat. A pleasant Tonic-Laxative is just what is needed to do away with constipation and tone up the system. Constipation is a great "stay-er" in dog-day weather. People do all sorts of things in hot weather, and as a result constipation sets in. Take the Great Two-Fold Medicine, FIG CORDIAL. As a laxative, it will gently obviate the constipation. As a Tonic, it will brace up your whole system, give you a clear head, bright complexion, lots of energy and a happy disposition. Try it. Every druggist keeps it. Fifty cent and $1.00 bottles.
